Using Social Media for Informal Professional Learning:

Take charge of your own learning and connect with other teachers

Presented by Lesley Cioccarelli

Education Advisor – Migrants and Refugees

Cultural Diversity Coordinator

Canberra Institute of Technology

Having the knowledge and autonomy to source your own professional learning opportunities is empowering. By using the Internet, you can decide when, where and how to keep up-to-date with all the latest developments in English language teaching. This workshop will show you how to use social media to learn from, and share ideas with a network of teachers in your sector. Lesley will demonstrate the advantages of social media for informal professional development and how this can provide extensive professional support. She will share her own story of how she connects, learns and shares online, and will introduce you to some dynamic online communities where teachers share and collaborate, in the ACT, across Australia, and around the world. You will leave the workshop feeling empowered to kick start and develop your own professional learning.
